about fifty passengers, and was made up of twelve open and closed cars. When the collision occurred many of the passengers became panic stricken. Those in the open cars jumped as soon as they gathered themselves after the shock. There were a number of small children and babies on the westbound rain, but none of them was injured.

As soon as the collision occurred engines were sent for at Salt Lake and Saltair. Within an hour after the wreck the passengers on the westbound train were taken on to the lake and an engine brought the coaches and injured to Salt Lake.

Lake.

Dr. Bonnette was taken to the L. D. S. hospital, where he was attended by Dr. Silver. His injuries are not dangerous. Two ribs are believed to be fractured. His shoulder was dislocated and his hips bruised. Dr. Bonnette was in an open car and when the train collided he was thrown over two seats.

car and when the train collided he was thrown over two seats.

Drs. Joseph S. Richards and Ralph Richards met 'the train and had Mr. Reese and his wife and daughter taken to their home. Their injuries were found to be painful, but not serious. Miss Reese's hand was caught and crushed between two seats. One bone is said to be broken but the injured member will not have to be amputated.

Conductor Joseph Cahoon was in charge of the eastbound train.

Engineer Wolfgang is an employe of the Oregon Short Line Railroad company. His engins was engaged by the management of the Saltair road to run out a forty-five minute schedule and he was assigned to the engine. Conductor Clark F. Bailey was in charge of the westbound train.

The first train which left the Saltair depot after the wreck was at 4 o'clock. A train of eighteen coaches were backed up train of eighteen coaches were backed up and fully 3,000 persons who had been waitand fully 3,000 persons who had been walting in the sun for two hours scrambled on while the cars were moving. The sidetrack was cleared around the wreck and the management attempted to make schedule time in the afternoon. The second afternoon train left at 6 o'clock and nother growd expeltence in the sun was another crowd sweltering in the sun was jammed into the coaches and hauled out to the beach. In the evening trains were run every hour.

General Manager J. E. Langford went out to the scene of the wreck on a special about 5 o'clock in the afternoon. He looked over the wreckage and immediately sent for the wrecking crew. The engines were pulled into the railroad shops late last night.

HOMAGE IS PAID TO THE PIONEERS

A Tragic Finish.

A watchman's neglect permitted a leak in the great North Sea dyke, which a child's finger could have stopped, to become a ruinous break, devastating an entire province of Holland. In like manner Kenneth McIver of Vanceboro, Me., permitted a little cold to go unnoticed until a tragic finish was only averted by Dr. King's New Discovery.
